Cookies

A cookie is a small data file sent to your browser from a web server to be stored on your hard drive that allows easier access the next time the same page is visited. For example, a cookie is sent when you register or sign in to this site. With your consent, cookies can store information from forms you fill out at this site to create a user profile so that you do not have to re-enter the information each time you visit. Your browser can probably be set to notify you whenever a cookie is received so you can decide whether or not to accept it.

IP Addresses

An IP address is a number which is used to identify computers so that data such as Web pages you request can be sent to you. Our Web server automatically collects IP addresses for purposes of administering our system and to help us diagnose problems with our server.

Consent

By using the medetal.com online product catalog to order products, you consent to the collection and use of this information by us.

Users Under the Age of 13

If you are under the age of 13, do not provide any personally identifiable information on this site without the knowledge and permission of your parent or guardian.
